Biographical note

Astley John Hilary Goodwin was born on the 27th December, 1900 in Pietermaritzburg. He was the second son of the Reverend William Allerton Goodwin, who was then warden of St Albans Theological College, and Alice Mary, daughter of Bishop Bransby Key.

He studied at St John's College in Johannesburg and Selwyn's College, Cambridge, where he read English. In 1922, he obtained an Honours degree in Anthropology and Bantu Languages at the School of Oriental Studies. In the same year, he married Winifred Laura, daughter of John Leonard Micklethwait.

While working as a Research Assistant in 1924 for Professor A. Radcliffe Brown at the University of Cape Town, he saw the need for devising a new cultural terminology for South Africa. Two years later, he completed a working terminology for South African Prehistory.

In 1926, Goodwin was appointed to the permanent staff of the University of Cape Town. In 1933, he started the first course in Ethnology and Archaeology at the University. He was appointed Senior Lecturer in Ethnology and Archaeology in 1934, and Associate Professor in 1954.

Goodwin was also a fellow and Honorary General Secretary of the Royal Society of South Africa. In 1944, he founded the Cape Archaeological Society (which later became the South African Archaeological Society) and became the society's first chairman of council and later Honorary General Secretary. He edited the Society's Bulletin from 1945 to 1958.

In 1959, he became president of the Royal Society of South Africa and The South African Archaeological Society.

He died on the 5th December, 1959.

Scope note

The Goodwin Papers consists primarily of Goodwin's work-related material at the University of Cape Town. There is also some personal material, such as diaries, his father's estate papers, a family scrapbook and family photographs.

The collection contains a large number of correspondence files, a wide-ranging section on Goodwin's research material and archaeological site reports and a sizeable photograph collection.

Goodwin's publications, writings and talks are also well represented. In the latter section is a file on plays and poetry written by him.
